Community Consultation – Proposed Updates to Kanmantoo Operations

Kantra Copper is seeking community feedback on a number of proposed updates associated with the ongoing operation of the Kanmantoo Copper Mine.

In July 2026 Hillgrove Resources was renamed Kantra Copper Limited. The name Kantra draws on Kanmantoo (KAN) and Terra, Latin for earth (TRA). The name has been selected to reflect the company origins and the opportunity to grow.

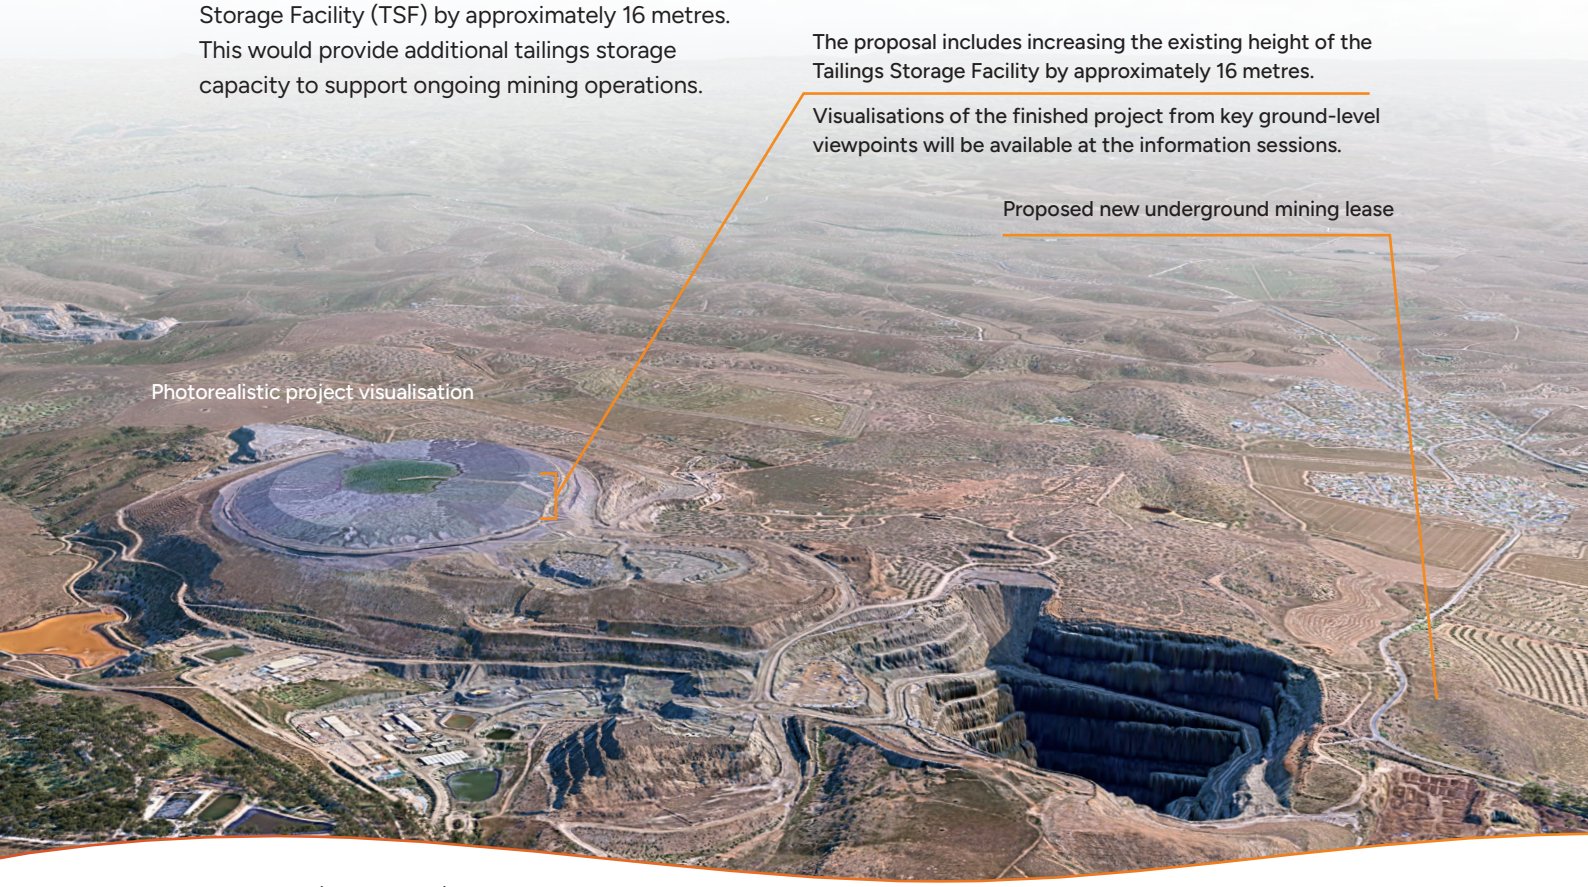

These proposals are intended to support the continued operation of Kanmantoo, provide greater flexibility for future mining activities, and help sustain local employment and economic activity in the region.

The proposed updates include:

- A new Mining Lease to the east of the existing mine lease. This area would be used for underground mining only, with no proposed surface mining or surface disturbance associated with the new lease.
- An increase in the approved height of the Tailings Storage Facility (TSF) by approximately 16 metres. This would provide additional tailings storage capacity to support ongoing mining operations.
- An update to our approvals to allow the recovery of garnet from existing and future tailings. Recovering garnet as a potentially saleable product would beneficially reuse material that would otherwise remain within the TSF and reduce the overall volume of tailings requiring long-term storage. Garnet recovery may also provide opportunities for ongoing employment and economic activity at Kanmantoo beyond the completion of copper mining operations.

In addition to these proposed updates, Kantra Copper will continue to investigate longer-term tailings management strategies for Kanmantoo. This ongoing work is separate to the current approvals process and is focused on identifying safe, practical and sustainable options for the future management of tailings as the operation develops.

Based on current planning, these proposed changes are not expected to result in material changes to existing dust, noise or vibration levels experienced by the surrounding community.

Kanmantoo has the potential to continue operating for a further 10+ years, subject to exploration success, mine planning, approvals and economic conditions. Continued operation would support ongoing local employment, contracting opportunities and expenditure within the surrounding community.

We would like your feedback

Kantra Copper values the opinions of our neighbours and the broader community. We invite you to provide feedback on the proposals outlined above, as well as any comments you may have regarding our current mining operations.

We would also like to hear your views on the following:

If mining at Kanmantoo continues for 10+ years, what community initiatives, projects or partnerships would you like to see Kantra Copper involved with?

Do you have any comments or concerns regarding our current mining operations?

Please scan the QR code below to provide your feedback and answer these two short questions.

Your feedback will help inform our ongoing planning and community engagement as we work to support the long-term future of the Kanmantoo operation.
